

L'Anglophone

Organisational Profile

L'Anglophone is a weekly English-language newspaper offering local, national and EU coverage to an international audience. Rather than being a “survival guide” for short-term expatriates, L'Anglophone aims to bring natives, newcomers and long-term residents together in Brussels by keeping its many English speakers informed about their community; toward this goal, L'Anglophone will also be hosting a series of cultural events.

Internship Profile

Among the cultural events hosted by L'Anglophone is the annual Liberty Ball. The intern will lead the project of pre-planning for this event, with duties including: Location scouting for the venue, evaluation of caterers, budgeting, liaison with the keynote speaker and fundraisers, audience analysis and selection, and invitation design.

Office communication in English, office in the centre of Brussels.

Intern Profile

The successful candidate(s) should be:

- Interested in events planning
- Fluent in English
- Outgoing
- Computer literate
- Comfortable presenting ideas and working on a deadline